Education and Professional Development:

Oct. 1978 - July 1982	Universities of Mainz and Göttingen, Subject: Chemistry (Mainz), Agriculture (Göttingen)
Oct. 1982 - Oct. 1986	University of Mainz, Subject: Medicine
Dec. 1986	Approbation
Feb. 1987 - July 1987	Research Assistant at the University of Mainz, I. Clinic for Internal Medicine, Laboratory of Dr. Stefan Meuer Field of Research: Production of monoclonal antibodies directed at signal transducing surface molecules expressed by human T-lymphocytes
1987 - 1988	Research Assistant at the German Cancer Research Center Heidelberg, Institute for Radiology and Pathophysiology, Department of Applied Immunology Field of Research: Human T-cell activation
12/1988	M.D. Thesis: "Establishment of in vitro systems to analyze the interaction between human T- and B-lymphocytes"
1988 - 1991	Research Assistant and Postdoctoral fellow at the German Cancer Research Center Heidelberg, Institute for Radiology and Pathophysiology, Department of Applied Immunology Field of Research: The role of CD45 in human T-cell activation
1991 - 1995	Group leader at the above institute in tenured position
1995 - 2001	Head of the Immunomodulation Laboratory of the Institute for Immunology, University of Heidelberg (in tenured position)
July 1997	Habilitation in Immunology at the Medical Faculty of the University of Heidelberg
1997 –2002	Leader of the research project A5 (Molecular analysis of signal transducing receptor complexes in human T-lymphocytes) of the Collaborative Research Center (Sonderforschungsbereich) 405: "Immunotolerance and its alterations"
2000	Calls for the C4 professorships in "Immunology" by the universities of Hannover and Jena and for the C3 professorship "Biochemistry" in Aachen.

Curriculum vitae Prof. Dr. Burkhard L. Schraven

since March 2001	Director of the Institute of Molecular and Clinical Immunology of the Medical Faculty of the Otto-von-Guericke-University of Magdeburg (OVGU)
2001-2004	Coordinator and Speaker of the BMBF-funded Research Center "Immunologie Magdeburg-Halle (Sachsen-Anhalt)"
12/2001	Board Certification "Transfusion Medicine and Immune Hematology"
09/2002	Approval as "Fachimmunologe" of the German Society of Immunology (DGfI)
07/2003 – 12/2009	Coordinator and Speaker of the German Research Foundation (DFG)-funded research group 521 "Alteration of immunological processes by membrane proximal signaling modules"
11/2003 – 04/2012	Member of the DFG study section "Cell biology" within the section "Basics of Medicine and Biology"
2004 - 2012	Member of the advisory board of the DGfI
2005 – 2009	Coordinator of the research focus group N2: "Physiology and pathophysiology of signal transduction pathways within the immune and nervous system" within the Program of Excellence of the State of Saxony-Anhalt
2006	Call by the University Aachen for the W3-professorship "Biochemistry", declined
2007-2018	Head of the Department „Immune control“ at the Helmholtz-Center for Infection Research (HZI), Braunschweig
2007-2020	Vice Dean for Research and member of the Faculty council (Fakultätsvorstand) of the Medical Faculty of the OVGU
2009	Call by the University Essen for the W3-professorship "Immunology", declined
